So techie chic! Perfect for those of us who love to lounge around in sexy undies all day AND have our music! Black lace panty with pink ribbon and removable pocket to hold iPod nano, money or other small personal items. Comes giftboxed and ready to give to your lover one or treat your self.

The iGroove Panty for iPod nano is, in fact, made of black lace with a white ribbon trim and a pink accent bow. There is a small pocket on the panties which is designed to hold a nano, but can also be used to hold money, a key or whatever else you need to carry when you are wandering around in your underwear. The pocket is removable if you need a smoother, more aerodynamic look.

The panties come in a gift box, so they are ready to be given away or kept for yourself. They come in one size that fits all (though it should be said that any man who wears them should make sure that they are alone at the time).....
